Student Council Report: November 23rd

The biggest event that SLA has organized since the last GB meeting was Hallo-week from October 26th-30th. On the first day, we launched our door decorating and costume contests. On the 28th, was the secondary 5 science stream student's dress down day while the rest of the school enjoyed a Halloween themed accessory day. On the 29th, the rest of the students had a dress down day. We also offered a cooking class on the 30th lead by one of our SLA members via zoom.

The second thing SLA has done is hold a "Term 1" giveaway. All the students were automatically entered with the chance to earn secondary entries by submitting a homeroom selfie. There will be 1 winner per grade, and the winners will receive a box of half a dozen donuts.

In the coming weeks, we plan on launching a school-wide game of cards against humanity: RWA edition. Basically, each homeroom would receive a set of 5 "filler cards". They would then pick one filler card to be used to fill in the blanks of the "sentence cards" that each grade receives. The winner is the homeroom within the grade that is deemed to have filled in the blank best. The event would happen every first week of the month.

We also wanted to make the week before the winter break festive by holding another door/classroom decorating contest and play holiday music in the halls throughout the week.
