

SLA Report January-February 2022

January:

- SLA did not do anything as Winter Carnival was canceled. This is usually the big event of the month but alas.

February:

- SLA sold and handed out Valentine's messages during the week of the 7th. A message was free but a message with a chocolate was 2$.
- We hung up posters of black history figures that may be more obscure or looked over during the month and in our history classes in general.
- We got homerooms to work as a team to decorate their doors for black history month turning the hallways into a sort of museum where students can go and read doors to learn more about specific figures or groups in black history.
- Thrifting for love was something we did on the dress down day on Feb.15th. Plenty of students find the holiday a little lackluster, so we tried to spin it from loving another person to loving the planet, as the creation of clothes and fast fashion is one of the largest polluters currently. Thrifting and buying clothes second-hand really help diminish this. Students were encouraged to come to school in clothes they have thrifted or to go thrifting themselves. This also breaks the stigma that thrifting and buying second-hand is 'poor' or 'dirty'.
- In our daily bulletin which is read in every homeroom and reaches most students, we put daily factoids about important figures in black history.

Sorry, for some reason they haven't been sending me the minutes, only Marilena even though we are both secretaries. When I get those, I'll edit this section!
